

Paolo Fornasiero is full professor of Inorganic Chemistry at the University of Trieste, Italy. Research interests are in the areas of applied nanomaterials, heterogeneous catalysis, solar fuels, energy related processes, biomass conversion and environment protection. Since 2015 he serves as Associate Editor of ACS Catalysis. He received several awards, including the 2018 M.T. Messori Roncaglia Award, the 2017 Edoardo Kramer Award, the 2016 IACS Heinz Heinemann Award, the 2013 Chiusoli Medal and the 2005 Nasini Medal. He is co-author of over 230 scientific publications, 13 book chapters and editor of various special issues. Current h-index is 72 with over 21,500 citations (Google Scholar).